3) The facts of this case are very simple. The complainant's paraman purchased a house and was living in it till his death about 2 years ago. The complainant is said to have subsequently vacated the house on account of plague. One Gangappa, sister's relation of the paraman is alleged to have occupied the house. The exact nature of the relationship is not elicited and there is no allegation that he is not related to the deceased. An extradition warrant is prayed for on this evidence. The dispute seems to be more of a civil nature. May further evidence be called for before the Resident is moved for an extradition warrant.

10) Subd with reference to para 3 above.

ASA 17/8/18 13/8

11) As already noted, this is a dispute between a ~~brother~~ person and his ~~brother~~ parasman regarding a house, the title deed of which stands in the name of the deceased brother. The ~~parasman~~ has lodged a complaint of trespass against her paraman brother on the ground that she was in possession. The dispute is a clearly of a civil nature, and the Residency may not approve of an extradition warrant being asked for in such a case. If approved, the District Magistrate will be informed that the dispute being one of a civil nature, an extradition warrant will not be applied for.
